Fee-Based Financial Advisor Custodians Include The Charles Schwab Corporation, Fidelity Investments, & TD Ameritrade

Fee-Based Financial Advisor Custodians

Smaller mutual fund fee-based financial advisors: Bank of New York (Pershing & Lockwood), Circle Trust, E*Trade, Foliofn, Millennium Trust, National Advisors Trust Company (NATCO), PFPC, Raymond James, Rydex Funds, Security Trust, SEI Investments, Shareholder Services Group, & TradePMR; larger individual securities fee-based financial advisors: Bank of America, JP Morgan Chase (Bear Stearns), Merrill Lynch, Morgan Stanley, Northern Trust, Smith Barney, State Street Corporation, UBS Financial Services, & Wachovia Bank

- Foliofn
 - Folio Institutional
- Guggenheim Partners
 - Rydex
- LPL Financial Holdings

National Advisors Trust Company: affiliated advisors have equity ownership; start up; heavy competition in this area; down-playing the importance of technology

DST Systems entering market 2014-2015

Trust Company of America: based in Denver, CO; relatively smaller; captures unwanted timer market

The Charles Schwab Corporation: based in San Francisco, CA; long dominant; retail business perceived to be competitive; now focused on larger advisors; platform includes stocks, bonds, mutual funds, & separate accounts; client's trades directed to Schwab; changing custodians is difficult because it requires client authorization

- TD Bank
- TD Ameritrade
- Institutional

- The Bank of America
- Merrill Lynch

Fidelity Investments: based in Boston, MA; second in assets; often compares its offering to Schwab; targets mid-tier financial advisors; state-of-the-art software; client's trades directed to Fidelity; changing custodians is difficult because it requires client authorization

- TD Ameritrade
- Trade
- Trust Company

TD Ameritrade: based in Jersey City, NJ; second in number of advisors; more entrepreneurial competitor; lower commissions; strategy: either small advisors or small shares of large advisors; second biggest financial advisor custodian; aggressive financial advisor campaign in progress; small average financial advisor size; changing custodians is difficult because it requires client authorization
